

Lois E. Krahn, M.D.

Bryn Mawr College; Mayo Clinic School of Medicine
Board member since 2013

Dr. Krahn is a professor of psychiatry in the Mayo Clinic College of Medicine and holds a joint appointment in the Department of Psychiatry and Psychology and the Division of Pulmonary Medicine. Recently her research has examined the role of wearable monitoring devices, sleepwalking and related conditions, the sleep environment, and novel therapeutic agents for excessive daytime sleepiness.

Dr. Krahn has held several leadership positions at Mayo Clinic, including associate medical director of the Sleep Medicine Clinic in Minnesota, chair of the Department of Psychiatry and Psychology in Arizona, and medical director for Compliance and Risk Management. She has received numerous awards for her excellence in medical education.

Dr. Krahn currently serves as deputy director of Mayo Clinic's Robert D. and Patricia E. Kern Center for the Science of Health Care Delivery, focusing her education efforts more recently on this emerging discipline. She is a member of the Arizona Medical Board and Arizona State University's Health Futures Council.
