

Nancy B. Peretsman

Princeton University; Yale University
Board member since 2019

Ms. Peretsman is a managing director of Allen & Company LLC, a closely held private investment bank based in New York City. In addition to her mergers and acquisitions, and capital raising practice, Ms. Peretsman has had the privilege to serve as an advisor to some of the most influential entrepreneurs and executives in the media, e-commerce and consumer internet businesses. Furthermore, she has enabled fundraising for over 100 high growth companies and was an original investor in Priceline over 20 years ago. Now renamed Booking Holdings, Ms. Peretsman served on the company's board from its initial public offering in 1999 until completing her term in 2020.

Prior to Allen & Company, she was a managing director at Salomon Brothers, heading the worldwide media investment banking practice. Over the last decade, Fortune has named Ms. Peretsman among the "50 Most Powerful Women in Business."

She is a trustee and vice chair of the board of The Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, New Jersey; an elected Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and she became a member of the Academy's Trust in 2022. Nancy retired from Princeton University's Board of Trustees after 24 years and recently completed her term on Teach for America's National Board where she served for nearly 20 years.
