Mayo Clinic's Bariatric Program offers obese and overweight patients a comprehensive approach to weight loss and weight management. A team of specialists, including an endocrinologist, registered dietitian, clinical psychologist, advanced practice provider, registered nurse, and surgeon work together to develop treatment plans tailored to each patient's needs. Medically supervised interventions include: nutrition therapy, behavior modification, pharmacotherapy, weight-loss surgery, and procedures.

If you have questions regarding the informational sessions or about bariatric care in general, call Endocrinology at 507-538-1565.
