Which Path is Most Beneficial for People with Kidney Failure?

Kidney transplant recipients have a significantly greater chance of survival compared to dialysis patients.

A transplanted kidney performs 100% of a kidney’s function. Dialysis only performs 10%.

Transplant patients experience fewer setbacks than dialysis patients.

Kidney transplant recipients have a significantly greater chance of survival compared to dialysis patients.