Patient Care

Mayo Clinic offers customized airway stents for patients with central airway stenosis

Mayo Clinic is one of the first centers to offer patients with complex central airway stenosis patient-specific, customized airway stents approved by the Food and Drug Administration.

Pharmacological sedation in the ICU based on what the patient needs

At Mayo Clinic, the mechanical ventilation order set in the ICU no longer includes mandatory use of sedative medications.

Research

Pulmonary mechanics applied to the personalization of mechanical ventilation

As mortality improvements in acute respiratory distress syndrome have stagnated and the concept of safe ventilation continues to evolve, the search for better and more-integrative therapeutic targets has ensued.

WGS testing provides molecular detection for tuberculosis drug resistance

Mayo Clinic Laboratories' whole-genome sequencing (WGS) testing provides molecular detection of well-characterized drug resistance variants in Mycobacterium tuberculosis complex by sequencing Mycobacterium tuberculosis isolates. Nancy L. Wengenack, Ph.D., provides an overview.
